

Reclaim, Revive, Create:

Empowering Indigenous Artists in Nevada

Saturday, March 29th,
Stewart Indian School, Carson City, NV

"Reclaim, Revive, Create: Empowering Indigenous Artists in Nevada" is a dynamic workshop designed to celebrate and uplift Indigenous artists as they reclaim their narratives, revive cultural traditions, and create powerful works of art.

Through projects like the Bureau of Land Management's initiative to reimagine a new California Trail poster from an Indigenous perspective, participants will engage in meaningful discussions and creative expression that challenge historical representations and center Indigenous voices. This workshop is more than an artistic gathering—it is a movement to highlight the impact of the arts on Indigenous communities while breathing new life into cultural storytelling. By bringing awareness to our artists and cultural creatives, we honor the past, empower the present, and inspire the future of Indigenous artistry in Nevada.
